NVIDIA - Keynote Speaker for 2020 UKIVA Machine Vision Conference

UKIVA is delighted to announce that the Keynote address at the 2020 UKIVA Machine Vision Conference and Exhibition will be given by Richard Love from NVIDIA. Richard is EMEA Marketing Manager for the NVIDIA's Jetson™ Embedded Processor Family. The Keynote will be the first presentation of the Conference at 10am on 14 May 2020 at the Marshall Arena, Milton Keynes, UK.

UKIVA Chairman, Allan Anderson, said: "With embedded vision currently one of the major development areas in machine vision, this will be an excellent opportunity for visitors to find out about the use of embedded platforms in a range of applications that include vision, robotics and more. This promises to be a really interesting presentation."

Richard has over 25 years' experience working with developers of 3D Graphics, Cloud Software and AI Hardware Technology Solutions, including Autodesk, Microsoft and of course NVIDIA. He manages the launch and marketing of AI-based solutions for Industrial Robotics, Autonomous Machines, UAVs, IVA, and Smart Cities.

Further details on the content of the Keynote address and the rest of the 2020 Conference program as well as the exhibition will be published on the event website (www.machinevisionconference.co.uk) as they are finalised.
